Green for go this Easter

A NEW show home will open on Good Friday at Seddon Homes' distinctive development at The Green, Congleton.

The opening coincides with a new release of two, three, four and five-bedroomed homes onto the market.

Close to South Manchester and easily commutable to its city centre, The Green offers modern living with a stylish rural feel.

Arranged around a quaint central village green, properties are built with a Georgian influence that reflects the local heritage of Cheshire weavers' cottages of low windows tucked under eaves.

There are four informal courtyards, each with a central feature of a mature tree and attractive decorative paving, to create a distinctive semi-rural living environment.

Seddon Homes sales and marketing director, Denis Maddock, said: "In response to buyer demand, we have now released a range of new house styles not previously available.

"The Green is a good example of skilfully using traditional and contemporary materials and designs that sit comfortably together providing a range of homes to suit all tastes.

"With prices from £172,950, it is easy to understand why The Green is high on the agenda on the wish list of many home buyers."

Inside, all the homes blend practicality with elegance. Kitchens feature stainless steel appliances and classy ceramics lit by discreet inset lighting to enhance the modern feel.

Bathrooms are ergonomically designed in cool white with sparkling stainless steel taps and continental tiling to provide the finishing flourish.
